The Experience of Essential Oils

Guest Speaker, Stephanie Ginn's sedentary 8-5 days led to health concerns which included aches, pains, weight gain, and edema in her legs. Ultimately she succumbed to bacterial infection and cellulitis requiring hospitalization. The illness caused her physical and mental burdens that led to anxiety, panic attacks, and severe depression. Prescribed medications caused remarkable side effects but did not help her condition. Failed efforts to treat her using modern medicine led her to a natural approach for care. Upon trying a homeopathic cream she immediately began to notice a remarkable improvement. Thus began her road to natural health care, where she discovered essential oils. Stephanie has now been a Wellness Advocate for an essential oils company. Join her as she shares her personal health and wellness journey and discusses suggested uses of essential oils believed, by some, to help naturally support the body.
